How to Teach the Bible to Your Kids

At the Lifeway Store in Lubbock on Tuesday, April 11th, a Lifeway representative will walk parents through a workbook from Dr. Joshua Straub, a marriage & family strategist for LifeWay, on helping our kids understand the Bible and applying its truths to their lives. Lifeway will have special offers, snacks, and giveaways at the event, including free workbooks to the first 75 customers at each store.

There are two presentation options:

10:00 to 11:00AM: We will leave the church at 9:00AM and return around Noon.

6:00 to 7:00PM: We will leave the church at 5:00PM and return around 8:00PM.

I am going at both times. Please let me know if you are planning to go and want to ride with me in the Church SUV. No childcare will be available for this event.

Quick Family Devotional Time Tips

1. Shorter is better – the younger your children are the shorter your family devotion should be.
2. Fun is better – make sure to have a little fun. End your time with a family game or TV show you like to watch together.
3. Prayer is better – Pray for your kids individually. Be encouraging. Write down any prayer request they may have and ask later how God answered.

Remember, faith is caught more than taught. Live your faith in such a way that your kids catch you reading your Bible, praying, giving, and loving others daily.
